Program Notes

Āhuti
{Sanskrit: Invoking | Pali: Offering}

SANKIRTANAM (a prayer)

Wandering minstrels sing and dance in praise of Lord Krishna...
The lotus-eyed lord
with the flute in his hands and a peacock feather in his hair.
The eternal lover,
the yogi,
the last refuge.
Protector of the universe,
he is the purest of all beings.
The only truth.

Dancers: Abhinaya Rohan, Anoushka Rahman, Rohini Banerjee, Pavithra Reddy, and Daquil Miriyala

POORNĀRATĪ

In most South Asian traditions, the arts serve as a medium to attain the highest state of being. Temple rituals integrate dance as an essential medium of worship to invoke and propitiate the powers that govern the natural order of the universe.

Poornāratī, which means "complete offering," seeks to invoke the principles of the Universe, both male and female, that we may dance in their Presence.

Odissi Dancers: Pavithra Reddy, Abhinaya Rohan, Anoushka Rahman, and Rohini Banerjee
Kandyan Dancers: Thaji Dias, Amandi Gomez, Kushan Dharmarathna, and Geeth Premachandra

INTERMISSION
INVOKING SHIVA

Attributed to Ravana, Sri Lanka’s great warrior king, who was a devotee of Shiva, the God of dance and destruction.

Shiva! From the forest of your matted locks descends the celestial river Ganga.

A mighty serpent garlands you lovingly, the glittering gem in his magical hood radiates brilliance, that anoints the faces of the four-directions with a delicate hue.

Adorned only by the sky, a new-born moon jewels your locks and your forehead smoulders with the fire of your third eye.

Your ceaseless drum song pervades the universe, as you dance your fearsome Tandava.

Perfect consort to Himalaya’s daughter, you are the ever-compassionate destroyer of evil.

Opening your third eye you burnt to ashes the God of Love The five-arrowed Kamadeva, disrupter of your meditation.

You are the Universe. Invincible. Infinite. Eternal.

On you I meditate.

Dance on the funeral pyres in my heart and release me from this universe.

Dancers: Thaji Dias and Pavithra Reddy

ĀLĀP

The Kandyan and Odissi dance traditions meet in space, to challenge, combine, and embrace each other through musical conversation and rhythmic dialogue.

About the Dance Forms

KANDYAN DANCE

Kandyan dance comes from Kandy, an area in the central hills region in Sri Lanka. According to legend, the origins of the dance lie in an exorcism ritual known as the Kohomba Kankariya, which was performed by shamans from India who came to the island on the request of a king suffering from a mysterious illness. After the performance of the ritual, the illness vanished and the local people adopted the dance.

Originally performed by dancers who were identified as a separate caste and aligned to the Temple of the Tooth, the dance declined when support from the Kandyan kings ended in the colonial period.

Kandyan dance was adapted for the stage in the 1940s by Guru Chitrasena. His wife and dance partner, Vajira, was the first professional female Kandyan dancer, and together they established Kandyan dance as a performance art. Their popularity helped to reduce the caste barriers surrounding the dance and made it accessible to an urban, contemporary audience.

ODISSI DANCE

For centuries, a temple has looked out at a turbulent sea, its walls dancing a prayer to the rising sun. Magnificent ruins like these in Odisha in Eastern India confirm that Odissi was performed as far back as 200 BCE. Originally a sacred ritual dedicated to the gods, Odissi is one of the oldest dance traditions in the world. Its sinuous forms, languorous limbs, and rapt expressions frozen in stone tell of a past rich in dance, music, myth, and legend.

Odissi speaks of love and union between human and divine, transporting viewers to enchanted worlds of magic and spirituality. Its sensuousness and lyricism reflect both the motifs of Odisha temple sculpture as well as the poetry from the deep wellsprings of Oriya music.
About the Companies

THE CHITRASENA DANCE COMPANY

Founded by Guru Chitrasena with a vision to inspire and exhilarate through the traditional dances and drums of Sri Lanka, the Chitrasena Dance Company has always been at the forefront of transforming the traditional arts landscape of the island. Chitrasena is recognized for rescuing the traditional dances that were confined to village settings and presenting it to audiences in Sri Lanka and across the world. The company was founded in 1943, initially nurtured under the creative genius Chitrasena, and later together with his wife, Vajira. They worked tirelessly for decades to carefully distill ancient rhythmic rituals—by reviving and refining elements while staying firmly rooted in the old—and developed an authentic dance language.

For over seven decades the Chitrasena Dance Company has given life to compelling performances, ranging from a rich repertoire of dance and drumming pieces to acclaimed original ballets and productions inspired by ancient rituals and contemporary culture. Karadiya (1961), Nala Damayanthi (1963), Nrithanjali (1965), Kinkini Kolama (1978), Shiva Ranga (1984), Chandalika (1996), and Bera-Handa (2001) are some of the most-renowned productions. More recently, the Chitrasena Dance Company has brought to the stage The Art of Chitrasena (2006), Kumbi Kathawa (2007), Dancing for the Gods (2010), Devanjali (2015), and Guru Gedara Festival (2018). The creative partnership and the first collaborative production, based on an invitation extended to the Chitrasena Dance Company by Nrityagram, led to the much-acclaimed production Samtha (2012).

The Chitrasena Dance Company celebrated its 75th year in 2018, and the third generation is led by Heshma Wignaraja, artistic director and eldest granddaughter of Chitrasena and Vajira, who continues to take forward the legacy of her grandparents. Experimenting without compromise and using traditional dance language and form to push boundaries, the new work offers a fresh perspective while upholding Guru Chitrasena’s philosophy that “the new is but an extension of the old.”

NRITYAGRAM

Nrityagram (which means dance village) is located outside Bangalore, India. It was founded in 1990 by Odissi dancer Protima Gauri, who converted 10 acres of farmland into a setting for the study, practice, and teaching of dance.

Nrityagram is dedicated to creating excellence in Odissi through the traditional method of learning, the Guru-Shishya Parampara, a unique and sacred relationship between mentor and disciple, referred to as mentorship in modern times.

The dance pedagogy is inspired by the Gurukula, an ancient Indian residential teaching paradigm where students and teachers live together in an integrated environment of practice, theory, and discipline. Learning is a way of life, and students have a rare opportunity to imbibe the spirit of the Guru by living with them and observing them at work.

Conceived this way for almost 30 years, Nrityagram imparts not only technique in dance but nurtures a philosophy of being that embraces holistic practice, mindful living, and the pursuit of excellence. The daily schedule includes a unique, scientific body conditioning and training program that is sourced from yoga, Natyashastra, Kalaripayattu, Western fitness methods, and Odissi body-conditioning exercises. This training method is designed to increase the performance lifespan of a dancer and is sought after by accomplished dance and movement professionals from different disciplines.

With a student strength of over 200, Nrityagram provides an environment that fosters the artistic, intellectual, and personal growth of its dancers and prepares them for successful and productive lives as artists and citizens, as well as to become leaders in their professions.

The aim is to prepare dancers for careers that combine performance with teaching, community outreach, and leadership. To enrich their practice, dancers are taught yoga, meditation, and martial arts, along with Sanskrit and ancient dance scriptures. Choreographers, musicians, writers, and theatre practitioners from all over the world visit to perform and conduct workshops and seminars in their area of practice.

This unique blend of traditional knowledge with contemporary understanding and application makes Nrityagram the only institution of its kind in the world and strengthens its position as a groundbreaking institution.

The Nrityagram Dance Ensemble is regarded as one of the foremost dance companies of India. Led by Artistic Director Surupa Sen, the company has achieved worldwide critical acclaim, performing across the globe, including an annual tour to the United States.

The company is devoted to bringing Odissi—one of the oldest dance traditions in the world—to audiences worldwide. Performed as far back as 200 B.C. as a sacred ritual dedicated to the gods, Odissi speaks of love and union between human and divine, transporting viewers to enchanting worlds of magic and spirituality. Its lush lyricism reflects both the motifs of Odisha temple sculpture as well as the poetry from the deep wellsprings of Oriya music.

Although steeped in and dedicated to ancient practice, the ensemble is also committed to carrying Indian dance into the 21st century. Enabled by grants from International Arts Funding organizations, Nrityagram’s dancers not only explore creative expansions of tradition, but are also able to commission fresh compositions from leading Indian classical musicians.

Nrityagram has presented seven full-length ensemble shows Śrī: In Search of the Goddess (2001), Ansh (2005), Sacred Space (2005), Pratimā: Reflection (2008), Śriyah (2010), Saṃhāra (2012), and Āhuti (2019); two full-length duet shows, Saṃyoga (2012) and Songs of Love and Longing (2013); and two solo shows, Yadunandana (2017) and Vinati: Songs from the Gita Govinda (2021). All works were choreographed by Sen.

This is the first performance by Nrityagram Dance Ensemble and Chitrasena Dance Company at the Moss Arts Center.

She also studied Odissi with Guru Protima Gauri and Abhinaya (expressional dance) with Guru Kalanidhi Narayanan. For over two decades, Sen has researched and expanded the dance vocabulary of Odissi and developed an aesthetic style that distinguishes the dancers from the Nrityagram Gurukula (School). Attracted to choreography from childhood, Sen has focused on making new dances using an expanded Odissi language rooted in traditional Odissi and the Natyashastra. She has a keen interest in music and rhythm composition and has worked closely with Pt. Raghunath Panigrahi since 1999.

Sen has choreographed seven full-length ensemble shows for Nrityagram, which are Śrī: In Search of the Goddess (2000), Ansh (2004), Sacred Space (2006), Pratimā: Reflection (2008), Śrīyāḥ (2010), Saṃhāra (2012), and Āhuti (2019); two full-length duet shows, Saṃyoga (2012) and Songs of Love and Longing (2013); and two full-length solo shows, Yadunandana (2017) and Vinati: Songs from the Gita Govinda (2021). Go Deeper

In an interview with Groundviews, Surupa Sen, artistic director of Nrityagram, reflected on the earliest stages of her ensemble’s collaboration with Chitrasena: “there was a definite [...] connection where we could collaborate on the basis of something that binds us together historically, but at the same time has so much in contrast.” What similarities and differences do you observe in the Odissi and Kandyan dance styles? Why do you think the ensembles are averse to characterizing their work together as a “fusion of dance forms?”

The Moss Arts Center has been dedicated to providing K-12 students in the region with free, high-quality, and exciting arts programming since opening our doors in 2013. Virginia Tech acknowledges that we live and work on the Tutelo/Monacan People’s homeland and we recognize their continued relationships with their lands and waterways. We further acknowledge that legislation and practices like the Morrill Act (1862) enabled the commonwealth of Virginia to finance and found Virginia Tech through the forced removal of Native Nations from their lands, both locally and in western territories.

We understand that honoring Native Peoples without explicit material commitments falls short of our institutional responsibilities. Through sustained, transparent, and meaningful engagement with the Tutelo/Monacan Peoples and other Native Nations, we commit to changing the trajectory of Virginia Tech’s history by increasing Indigenous student, staff, and faculty recruitment and retention, diversifying course offerings, and meeting the growing needs of all Virginia tribes and supporting their sovereignty.

We must also recognize that enslaved Black people generated revenue and resources used to establish Virginia Tech and were prohibited from attending until 1953. Through InclusiveVT, the institutional and individual commitment to Ut Prosim (That I May Serve) in the spirit of community, diversity, and excellence, we commit to advancing a more diverse, equitable, and inclusive community.

The best seat in the house? YOURS.

We have long held the belief that science, technology, and the arts strengthen our community, however, we feel that it is the arts alone which heal and calm. We are most honored to have been able to lend our support to the Moss Center from the very beginning. We are grateful for the gifts it bestows to all of us in return.

— Bill and Pat Carstensen

Be an advocate for the arts and help advance initiatives that stretch well beyond the stage.

For a limited time only, your $2,500 gift gives shows your support for the arts and gives you the opportunity to name a seat — for yourself or your business, or as a gift to honor friends and family, celebrate a graduate, or memorialize loved ones. A plaque installed on your named seat will be engraved with an inscription of your choice.

A trio of spring performances curated by North Carolina artist Shirlette Ammons, who is serving as the Moss Arts Center's first independent guest performing arts curator. Ammons brings a new perspective to the center's lineup, creating a focus on Black Southern artists who effortlessly cross genres and revitalize time-honored music traditions.

Thursday, March 30-Friday, March 31, 8 PM

Rissi Palmer

A country singer and songwriter from Raleigh, North Carolina, Rissi Palmer’s gift lies in reaching across musical boundaries. While Palmer made her mark in country music, she is equally at home in R&B, bringing the entire spectrum of popular music to bear on music she calls “Southern soul.”

Friday, April 7, 8 PM

Shirlette Ammons

Shirlette Ammons is a Durham, North Carolina-based poet, musician, emcee, and film creative whose highly collaborative work defies genre. Ammons’ upcoming recording, Spectacles, interrogates her own relationships to gender, Blackness, and Southernness.

Friday, April 14, 8 PM

Sonny Miles

Sonny Miles is a singer and multi-instrumentalist from Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Citing gospel, funk, and neo-soul as his biggest influences, he fuses catchy, relatable lyrics with soulful compositions. Miles has amassed over 500,000 streams on Spotify alone.

The Open University

Did You Know
Stuart’s 1st challenge was helping further adult education. In what was then called the Free University (later the Open University), classes provided a forum for discussion and life long learning.

In 1970 Emily Stuart became the Y’s new director and gradually reinvented the YMCA at Virginia Tech.

The Open University program enrolled over 4000 students in 350 classes per year. Class subjects range widely, covering many subjects such as cooking, personal finance management, perennial gardening, and how to create a web page.
